New Treatment for Ticks & Fleas

Bayer have brought out a new spot on treatment, ADVANTIX, which will not only kill fleas but also repel ticks and mosquitos.

We have been using it since April and so far it does seem to be highly effective.

It is only for use in dogs though, so cats that tend to pick up ticks will need to stay on FRONTLINE.

Pet Passports

The rules governing travelling pets within EU and accepted countries have changed. Instead of various bits of paper pets can now have their own passport.

They still need to be microchipped, vaccinated against rabies, and blood tested after 30 days. But the details all go onto the passport. This means that in most circumstances they then don't need an export certificate to go abroad, and can come back into the UK after 6 months have elapsed from the blood test. The tick and tapeworm treatment, which needs to be done 24-48 hours before re-entry, and rabies boosters, will all go on to the passport. For more information ask for a copy of our Taking your Pet Abroad leaflet. For information pertaining to a particular country ring DEFRA- 0845 6030 807

Pet Health Care Plan

We are delighted that we are able to offer you the chance to join our new Practice Plan. This means that you can spread the cost of your pet's routine veterinary treatment over twelve months. This means that you can pay for cats' and dogs' vaccinations, flea, tick & worm treatments, and rabbits' vaccinations, by monthly direct debit.

Included will be a free 6 monthly examination. You will also automatically get a 10% discount on all other bills, provided that they are paid at the time. Out of hours calls would be £25 less than for non regular clients.

Regular visits mean that we can monitor the general health of your pet and offer advice and support which, in many cases, may prevent problems in the future. We would rather see your pets when they are fit and well and help you to keep them that way, than wait until they have a problem, which is distressing for all involved. The current, monthly, charges are:

	First pet	Subsequent pet
Small Dog	£ 9.73	£ 8.73
Medium Dog	£10.48	£ 9.48
Large Dog	£11.58	£10.58
Giant Dog	£12.10	£11.10
Cat	£ 9.81	£ 8.81
Rabbit	£ 4.43	£ 3.43

Stressed Dogs and Cats

If your pet finds this time of year stressful- too many fireworks, too many parties, too many visitors, or even too much fun then everyone going back to work and school- it may be worth considering pheromone treatment.

By plugging the relevant diffuser into a socket you get a month's worth of calming pheromone release. These do help many stressed animals.

Please ask for more details on FELIWAY for cats or DAP for dogs.

Dog Booster Vaccinations

Intervet, the drug company whose vaccines we use, have investigated in detail how often vaccines need to be boosted. They are now confident that protection against Distemper, Hepatitis and Parvovirus will last for 3 years after the initial vaccination course (the puppy vaccinations and then the first annual booster). Parainfluenza and Leptospirosis protection only lasts a year in most dogs, so an annual vaccination against these diseases is recommended. As leptospirosis (Weil's disease in humans) is spread by rat urine especially in water courses, all of the dogs that walk on the forest, clifftops, farmland, or park land should be boosted each year. Therefore we recommend an annual check up and booster vaccination - but only give the minimum recommended vaccines required that year. If you have any concerns regarding vaccination please feel free to discuss them with us.

Herbal & Homoeopathic Medicines

As we realise that not all health problems are best treated by conventional medicines, a number of our staff, including the senior nurses, have been trained in the correct and appropriate use of herbal and homoeopathic medicines and acupuncture, and we now stock an extensive selection of these medicines and supplements.

If you would like to discuss your pet's health and whether there are any alternative therapies that either might prevent problems or help treat them, please make an appointment to see one of our nurses.

We were delighted to welcome Lucy Thacker, who joined the practice in November 2004 as an veterinary surgeon.

As a schoolgirl Lucy did work experience with us before training at Bristol University. Lucy qualified in 1999 and worked in Tewkesbury and then Worcester before traveling to New Zealand. Lucy has returned to her roots and is enjoying being back in the Forest.

She is currently working at our Lymington Surgery on Wednesdays, and at New Milton during the rest of the week.
